CLEAR THE COMPLEXION OVERNIGHT

Pimples, Rash, Eruptions, Etc., Quickly Eradicated by New Skin Remedy.

Ever since its discovery, poslam, the new skin remedy, has, in its extraordinary accomplishments, exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the eminent specialist who gave it to the world. It has cured thousands of cases of eczema and eradicated facial and other disfigurements of years standing. The terrible itching attending eczema is stopped with the first application, giving proof of its curative properties at the very outset.

In less serious skin affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, blackheads, acne, barber's itch, etc., results seen after an overnight application, only a small quantity being required to effect a cure. These and other uses poslam for these minor skin troubles can now avail themselves of the special 50-cent package, recently adopted to meet such needs. Both the 50-cent package and the regular $2 jar may be obtained in Bridgeport at Jennie Hamilton's Pharmacy and other leading drug stores.

Immense Audience
Saw "Follies 1909"

The much vaunted "Follies of 1909" reached Jackson's Theatre last night and was welcomed by a house which forced the hanging out of the "S. R. R." It was a novel and interesting scene to see with its constantly changing scenes and absence of plot or connection of any kind. The scenes were good and indifferently by turns, but the audience was discriminating and showed its appreciation at times, while it allowed the other turns to fall flat. The fun would not and then became dormant, although the struggle to raise it to a higher level was evident. The idea of each scene was novel, as was the costuming and scenic effects, but the scenes did not seem at all times to come from the master hand of Harry B. Smith.

The scene in Hammerstein's office at the Manhattan Opera House served to introduce Eva Tanguay, and her animation caught the audience at once. Bessie Clayton in this same scene her famous toe dance. Later she appeared in a skit called "The Children's Nursery" and sang "I Wish I Was a Boy, I Wish I Was a Girl" in a hit producing manner. The burlesque on hypnotism was laughable and well sustained, as was the Millionaire's Ward in the Tombs prison. The first act was concluded with a skit on baseball, the scene showing the New York Polo grounds. A few hundred lightweight baseball players were used in the game in which the audience took part. A pretty effect in black and white was produced when Annabelle Whitford appeared as a Brinkley being given in the second act. The Roosevelt hunting burlesque pleased. Miss Tanguay sang her "I Don't Care" song with spirit. The chorus was beautiful. The theatre never held a larger audience.

BALEST TO VISITORS NAVAL OFFICERS WAS SPLENDID SUCCESS

Felicitous Expressions Interchanged Over Festive Board
—J. B. Klein As Toastmaster—Loving Cup for Louis Richards

If ever a body of officers received a proper send off after a very pleasant visit to a place, the officers of the U. S. S. Vermont and the Italian cruiser Etruria did last night at the banquet in their honor, in the Atlantic hotel. More than 100 Bridgeport citizens were there to bid them good bye and wish them a return at some future date. Every allusion to the United States, or Italy, or the officers or crews representing each, was greeted with applause. The banquet was a very enjoyable affair and lasted until after 1 o'clock this morning, when it was brought to a close only because Commander Marble, of the Vermont had to leave the hotel to go to New York where he will take part in the Fulton-Hudson exposition with his men.

During the dinner a silver loving cup was presented to Deputy Sheriff Louis Richards by Ralph Borino, as an expression of appreciation from the committee which had charge of the entertainment. The loving cup was of silver and was inscribed with the names of the officers for the large part which Mr. Richards had taken in making the matter a success. Mr. Richards received the cup and responded. At the conclusion of the speechmaking Commander Marble rose and proposed a toast to the officers of the Etruria. Lee upon his own behalf and that of Commander Casolino of the Etruria. The hall rang with the response given. The toast was given by Deputy Sheriff Richards, who filled the first place at the table.

On his right sat Count Leonardi di Casolino, commander of the Etruria, and on his left, Commander Frank Marble of the Vermont. Others at the speakers' table were the officers of both ships, Mayor Henry Lee, Postmaster W. H. Marigold, Secretary of State N. H. Marigold, Vice-Consul Michael Riccio of New Haven and Sheriff S. B. Hawley. The banquet hall was decorated with the banners of the United States and Italy, which produced a distinctly patriotic atmosphere.

Toastmaster Klein welcomed the invited guests. He said in part: "Guests of the evening and Gentlemen: We have assembled here this evening to do honor to the very distinguished officers of the Italian foreign ship and to the commander and officers of one of our country's battleships. Our greeting comes from the hearts of our citizens who are glad to have you in our midst."

"The annals of Italy form a chapter in the world's history without parallel. Here he reviewed briefly the development of the Kingdom of Italy. "It was General Cardozo, 35 years ago to-day, who broke Italy out of the long night of mediocrity and made the breach which took away the temporal power, from the Pope. Thirty-nine years have elapsed since that time and many sons of Italy have come to this country. They have come not as paupers, but to live in peace and industry, and to be an integral part of our government and have conferred upon them the priceless boon of American citizenship."

DILLON'S MILLINERY
Some Stunning Creations to Be Shown at Opening Tomorrow.

From Paris, from Berlin, from Vienna and from every other millinery capital of Europe Mr. Edward H. Dillon of E. H. Dillon & Company has returned with the latest and most stylish hats for the autumn opening, hats large, handsome and in the latest styles. They are hats for the matronly women of forty-five. While Mr. Dillon had Bridgeport foremost in his mind, he was also mindful of the company of other key stores for New Haven, Hartford and the others received a generous share of the importations. The course the firm had taken in serving customers for some "Made in Bridgeport" creations that are now being produced in the manufacturing and wholesale departments which occupy the store at 1105 and 1107 Main street.

Nowhere can one hope to get a better idea of what is what in millinery than at Dillon's, now the largest establishment of its kind in New England outside of Boston. With the changing of the seasons, the hats are several distinctions that are closely drawn. The shapes are vastly different and the small hat is again coming into its own, although the large hat by no means disappeared. The bands are being used this year, thus letting the hat fall well on the head. The trims are imported from Paris and the change may be accounted for by the fact that the women of that city are wearing their hats extremely plain. The trims are deep and heavily draped. Moore and Beaulieu silks are being used for trimming and for ornamentation long velvet and satin are some of the trims in length. Gilt and silver tinsel are used in abundance, both for covering and for semi-trimming. Chamois is also being used in trimming.

Ostrich feathers have lost none of their favor for richness and are used for dress hats. Flowers are of the past for they now show no strength of popularity. The shades most in evidence are the dull greens, old gold or mustard shade, rhubarb green, and wisteria and vieux rose.

One of the many imported hats to be shown during the opening is a black velvet toque turban designed by Madame Georgette of 11 Rue de la Paix, Paris. It is 12 inches in height and sits close to the head. It is draped in black velvet and is ornamented by a Rhine stone arrow on the side and by black cross aigrettes. Another, a large black hat, the design of Madame Georgette, is a felt roll to the side. The top is covered with black moire silk and the facing is of black velvet. It is trimmed with black velvet and is 12 inches in height.

Madame Virot of 16 Rue de la Paix, Paris has designed a new toque turban of the prunelle shade of mirror velvet. It is scoop-like in shape with a heavy droop and sets well down on the head covering the ears. It is faced with Bengaline silk. The crown is draped softly with velvet, and is trimmed with light brown feathers.

A medium sized black hat, another of Madame Virot, will be shown. It is high of crown with a drooping basket brim with a slight roll on the edge. The body is trimmed with all silk satin and the crown gathered in soft black satin and surrounding the crown is a steel novelty trimming. It is faced with steel novelty trimmings and is decorated with a large willow plumes of a smoke shade, which harmonize well with the facing.

Creations of Mme. Pausanay, Mangin, Lulio, Lambert, Bumbel, German, Camille Roger and Hertz Boyer will be shown during the opening of the next 3 days.

MASSACRE OF JEWS BY THE RUSSIANS

Horrible Outrages Perpetrated by Frenzied Mob on Women and Girls

TOTAL DEATHS MAY BE 50

(Special from United Press.)

Berlin, Sept. 21.—Another massacre of Jews by the Russians has taken place at Kieff, according to information received today by prominent Jews of this city. The latest outrage began last Thursday, the Jewish New Year's day, and lasted for three days, during which time eighteen Jews were killed outright, twelve so severely injured that they subsequently died, and 19 seriously injured. There were a thousand lesser casualties besides the destruction of several hundred thousand dollars worth of Jewish property.

The Jews had no means of defending themselves and succeeded in killing but three of their Russian assailants and injuring a few. The reactionary party is responsible for the latest anti-Jewish outbreak. It became enraged at the Jews for their support of the reform movement and decided to inaugurate the Jewish New Year with another attack on the Jews.

Several of which have occurred in Kieff's history in the last few years. Hundreds of peasants were hired by the reactionary party and they led in the attack on the Jews. At the height of the mob's frenzy Jewish women and girls were seized by the drunken rioters, stripped of their clothes, chained and then in a long line and paraded through the streets, while the crowds of Russian looted and spit upon them. Two boys that sought to defend the women against the infuriated mob, were seized by the mob and killed. One quick rush by the mob however, and the little band was overpowered and literally hacked to pieces. Every one was dismembered and beheaded and pieces of their bodies kicked about the streets.

Several Jewish women were taken to the homes of the mob and poured boiling water down on the mobs. This proved but a stay to their deaths as the mobs rushed in and threw women headlong into a drunken where, like wolves attacking their prey, those in the streets fell upon the prostrate women and beat them to death. The mob which had been made drunk before being turned loose for the murderous work, was now drunk to the point of unconsciousness. The mob was driven from the building. The edifice was then destroyed.

After the destruction of the synagogue, the mob divided into smaller groups and invaded the homes of the Jews. They carried away their axes, clubs and iron bars though a few were armed with guns and revolvers. Every home visited was sacked, the furniture tossed to the street and set fire. Many homes were also fired but the mob had been previously warned against burning the houses for fear that the entire town would be destroyed.

Whenever the rioters showed signs of flagging energy, the leaders called upon their work and gave them heavy draughts of brandy. The second and third days the attack on the Jews degenerated into a drunken riot. The rioters carried knouts and mercilessly whipped every Jew encountered, including women and children. Even infants were attacked and several were killed.

All kinds of torture were practiced against the defenceless Jews. During the three days of the butchery and outrage, the authorities passively watched proceedings, pleading that they were unable to check the mob. On the third day a deputation of Jews waited on the Governor and by calling to him the agitation that followed the Kieff massacre in 1905, induced him to send troops which finally restored a semblance of order. The total deaths will reach over 50 and many more will die of their injuries. The principal streets of the Ghetto, or Jewish quarter, are still practically impassable from the wreckage of the houses. The attack on the Jews was unexpected as the leaders in the movement went about their work quietly. In addition to the peasants brought in from the surrounding villages, several hundred town "hoodlums" joined the attack.
